

SISC's Safety & Health Plan

SEPTEMBER 5 2021

CHANGE LOG: SEE BELOW

Here is the Safety & Health Plan for season 2021. Please read the entire document already now, so you can prepare yourself for a fantastic and safe time at the farm.

In these complicated times, we managed to make it possible to have some great weeks on the farm this summer. To make a safe and healthy season, it is important that everyone follows the guidelines and rules and that everyone behaves in a responsible way. Both before and during the stay at the farm - even if you don't agree with the rules or have different views on the corona situation.

SISC asked representatives from each week to take a critical view on the Safety & Health Plan to make comments and suggestions. This is all to make sure we covered as much as possible.

Please note that this document is subject for change depending on current global and regional developments and discoveries by national or supranational bodies. Some possible examples: authorities changing quarantine rules, the spread of mutated strains in Denmark, introducing obligatory PCR-testing on entering Denmark, the declaration of a country as a high risk area, etc.

Introduction

The Safety & Health Plan is made around the principle of a bubble, where normal corona measurements will not be enforced during the weeks. For instance, no face masks or social distance, once you are in the bubble.

If you don't feel comfortable with this, we encourage you to re-evaluate your stay.

The rules are the same for everybody, but if you come outside EU please check what extra rules that might apply for you.

We have been in contact with authorities to find official guidelines about how to make a bubble, but even the official advisory have not been able to give us guidelines. So we have been making the bubble guidelines with help and support from official guidelines, corona hotline and people with knowledge on this matter.

All participants and staff goes through the arriving procedures and other procedures in the Safety & Health Plan. Once cleared and inside the farm, participants are kept in a bubble without any contact to the outside world.

We are aware that it is not possible to make a stay at the farm a 100% safe, but we believe that these rules and guidelines make it as safe as possible and eliminating as many risks as possible. Going to the farm is built on trust. All participants should do their best to follow the rules and instructions. You are going to the farm on your own responsibility.

In this document you may not find the internal procedures like cleaning, hygiene, handover between weeks, procedures for testing team and more.

The wellbeing and safety of members and staff comes first. So if SISC finds that it is not safe to run a week, we will take the hard decision of cancelling it, in spite of possible financial consequences.

It is NOT enough to just read until here. You need to read and understand the full document :-)

You do not need to be vaccinated in order to participate, since we ask everybody to follow a strict procedure including test in order to participate.

• Entry in Denmark

Be aware that there are different rules for entering Denmark, depending on how you are travelling: over land, by boat, or by airplane. If you go by airplane, please check if there are special rules for your airline. Please make sure that you bring whatever you need for your journey, like insurance certificates, etc.

To check the latest rules, you can take a look here - see under "APPLICABLE FROM 26 JUNE 2021 AT 4.00 PM":

<https://en.coronasmitte.dk/rules-and-regulations/entry-into-denmark/categorization-of-countries>

• Prepare for the farm

- Before going to the farm, participants are encouraged to self-isolate for 5 days as much as possible and minimise the unprotected contact with other people who will not be coming to the farm.

- All participants need to bring a valid EU Digital COVID Certificate (European Corona Pass) on your name and can be either on a print or as a digital document (for instance, with a QR code) on your phone. If you don't have a valid EU Digital COVID Certificate, you will have to bring a negative PCR test that is taken maximum 48 hours before entering the farm. We encourage participants to take the PCR test as close to arriving as possible.

The EU Digital COVID Certificate (European Corona Pass) is only valid if you received your final vaccination more than 2 weeks prior to arrival, so you are fully vaccinated.

If you have a EU Digital COVID Certificate (European Corona Pass) for other reasons than vaccination, this will have to follow the current European rules to be valid.

- All participants will receive a Safety & Consent Form (sworn statement) to be filled out at home or on arrival at the farm.
- This year, we will receive Danish Kroner and Euros at the farm. This is because it is not possible to leave the farm during the week. So please bring enough cash (we don't take other payments like credit cards).

• Participants may not enter the farm if:

- they have any of the corona symptoms
- they are tested positive
- they have been with someone that was diagnosed corona or has any of the corona symptoms up until a week before they arrived
- they are travelling in a car with someone that is tested positive

• Travel to the farm

- If participants travel by car together and one is tested positive by arrival, all participants in the car will be considered positive
- If a participant (after completing the SISC safety procedure) leaves the farm to pick up someone else, both the driver and the newly arrived need to be tested before entering the farm. If the newly arrived is tested positive, everybody in the car will be considered positive.
- Participants using public transport (including taxi) have to use minimum a FFP2 mask and follow the normal corona rules.
- All participants need to bring a negative rapid (antigen) test that is not older than 8 hours before arriving at the farm. The negative antigen test should be stated on an official certificate on your name and can be either on a print or as a digital document on your phone.

You can do the antigen test free of charge in Denmark:

- directly at the airport (hint: if you have a EU Digital COVID Certificate, a antigen test is not always mandatory. So you will have to ask for it, in order to use it on entering the farm!) or
- in one of the testing centres all over Denmark or
- before entering Denmark

Please be aware that you will have to specifically ask for an official certificate on your name at the testing centre.

If you want the certificate printed on paper, you will have to wait at the testing centre for 15 to 30 minutes to get a paper version. If you choose to get the certificate digitally, please make sure that this will be an official certificate that can be read on your phone.

Here is a list of testing centres in Denmark:

<https://en.coronasmitte.dk/find-covid-19-test-center>

Note that this is a SISC rule for entering the farm, and has nothing to do with the official Danish travelling and entering rules.

If you really see no opportunity to do an antigen test 8 hours before entering the farm, you can send an email to camp@sisc.dk

We'll provide a test for you before entering the farm. Please only use this as an exception!

• Entering the farm

- All participants need to arrive between 15:00 and 18:00.
- If something happens during your trip and you will be delayed, please send an email to camp@sisc.dk
- If there is one participant in a car that is tested positive, everyone in the car will be considered positive.
- If you are denied access to the farm due to a positive test or invalid documentation, SISC will refund your camp stay.
- Participants arriving at the farm will have to wait on the street and in safe distance and wait for instructions from the staff. While waiting, it is not allowed to have any contact with other participants you are not travelling with.
- If a participant has a positive quick test, they are allowed to go to a public or commercial testing place to have a second test done. This must be a PCR test, the testing team will give directions to a fast PCR test facility.
- If a participant needs an extra PCR test, it is at their own expense.
- If a participant needs to wait for the result of an extra PCR test, SISC will assist in finding accommodation. The accommodation is at their own expense.

• During the week

- We have a Medical Consultation Team on stand by.
- Every week will be in their own bubble. This means that all participants are in a closed circle and do not have any contact with anybody else outside the farm. It also means that both the farm area and all participants are cleared. Participants can act freely as in before corona times.
- The number of participants will be kept to 50, even if as expected the numbers of allowed number of people gathered, will be higher in Denmark.
- Participants are not allowed to go out of the farm for any reason. If a participant goes out of the farm, they are not allowed to re-enter. Medical exceptions do apply, see below.
- In case of health emergency or an urgent medical condition, Management has to be informed immediately. The participant(s) involved is allowed to leave the camp for medical treatment. If company is needed, one person can go with them. Special instructions on how to proceed, will be given by Management. Re-entering the farm after a medical emergency can only be done after approval of the Medical Consulting Team.
- It is not allowed to meet up with anybody that is not a participant.
- There will be an external shopping team that has no physical contact to anyone in the week. The shopping team can take minor shopping orders.
- The farm will have isolation facilities.
- The SISC bar will have a bigger variety of drinks and snacks.
- In order to prevent participants from going to the cash machine (ATM), SISC will take Danish Kroner and Euros this year at the farm.
- If a participant doesn't feel well with or without symptoms, they will have to follow instructions from the management, be put in quarantine and given a quick test.
- During the week, Management (Camp Manager/ Camp Assistant) can always decide to have all participants tested (including staff).
- Because the bubble situation is different from other years, there will be practical changes to some normal rules and options.

For instance, if you want to make a phone call, normally you would do this outside the farm. This year that would not be possible. For this and other issues, we will have practical solutions ready.

- If, during the week, urgent matters come up where for instance a plumber or electrician is needed, there are separate internal instruction for staff. This includes a total separation to participants, cleaning and more.

In case of, or with suspicion of an outbreak/infection in the week:

- There will be an immediate action from staff which includes isolation, quick tests and contact tracing.
- Depending on the outcome of the medical consultation, the participant(s) is either taken to immediate isolation (SISC's, City Council's or other appropriate quarantine facility), or will be sent home - all under guidance of the Medical Consultation Team.
- SISC reserves the right to close the whole week.

• In between weeks

- Participants who will stay for the next week will get an additional quick test.
- Participants are not allowed to leave the farm between the weeks.
- Participants that stay will not interact with non-cleared persons.
- In the time between the weeks, the take over team (a SISC member that is not part of the week) is in charge and will take special corona safety measurements described in the internal instructions.

• Leaving the farm

- All participants that don't stay for the next week have to leave camp latest at 11:00.
- No physical contact is allowed between participants arriving and participants leaving.

• After the farm

- After arriving home, participants have to follow their own country's guidelines.
- All participants should be tested as soon as possible after arriving home. If the test is positive, the participant is obliged to inform SISC immediately. SISC will then pass on the information to all other participants anonymously.

General rules

- Everybody, including staff, has to follow the rules
- Management, together with the SISC board, can send a participant home if they don't follow the rules or instructions.
- Management, together with the SISC board, can choose to stop a week in case of a virus outbreak.
- If someone has to travel home or is not admitted to the farm before the week ends for whatever reason, the costs and responsibilities are entirely on the participant.
- There will be a quarantine place outside the farm.
- Every participant is handled the same way, even if they are vaccinated or immune to covid-19.

- SISC is not reliable for any risks of any participant.
- Participants are responsible for their own personal insurance.
- Participants are responsible for traveling and arriving in time at the farm.
- All documentations, certificates etc. must be in official approved format, and as a minimum in English
- By law, SISC is not obligated to share participant's data to authorities. If a participant contacts health system themselves, other rules may apply.
